

A photograph of a restaurant interior. On the left, there is a wall made of large, rough-hewn stone blocks. A large bouquet of pink and white roses is placed against the wall. In the center, a bar with a wooden front and a backlit display of various bottles is visible. Several round tables are set with white tablecloths, white napkins, and glassware. The chairs have light green fabric draped over them. The ceiling is white with recessed lighting. The overall atmosphere is elegant and rustic.
